To prepare the skin for the best competition color, step by step!

First: Start with shaving your body, make sure you do not cut yourself, it will not be neat when color is added on. Shave first time about 1 ½ -2 weeks before the competition to see how your skin reacts, shave again 1-2 days before you get your first layer of color, make sure you do not shave so early that you need to shave again before the competition because it irritates your skin and causes you to retain water.

2nd Scrub the body easily! This should be done daily, 4-7 days before the competition. You may also have a so-called scrub glove to help, be very careful so you do not scrub too hard and damage the skin.

3rd Stop using moisturizing body lotion 24 hours before 1st layer of color.

4th Take a shower and scrub one last time before first layer of color, do not use deodorant.

The first layer is normally day before the competition day, do not wear tight clothes after you been tanned.

5th We tan between 2-4 layers depending on your skin color, after you have received the first layers you can not shower and scrub unless we have given you orders to do that.

6th When it's time to compete, we will put on the right glaze or posing gel 20-30 minutes before you are going on stage.
